

APPENDIX IV

The Brownings' Address Book, 1856-1863

AT SOME POINT, probably during the Brownings' last visit to England (29 June–23 October 1856), they acquired a blank journal of 122 pages, die-cut with tabs containing the letters of the alphabet, retailed by Lockwood & Co., stationers of 75 New Bond Street, London. Based on some of the early entries, Frederick Tennyson's Pisa address, for example (see the end of letter 3919), it is likely that the Brownings began using the journal within a month or so of their return to Florence on 30 October 1856. Entries consist of the names and addresses of friends and correspondents, except for hotels and EBB's dressmakers, which are reproduced at the end of this appendix. Most of the entries are in EBB's hand; the initial entries in each section were transferred by her from the poets' earlier joint address book (AB-3). Later entries in RB's hand indicate that he continued to use the address book after EBB's death and until early 1863.

Upon the death of the Brownings' son, Pen, in 1912, his estranged wife, Fannie Browning, took possession of the address book. It did not sell in the 1913 Browning sale at Sotheby's, although the executors had asked Fannie to return all the items she had taken from Pen's various residences. Miss Dorothy Ivatt, companion and nurse to Fannie in her late life, recalled in conversation with one of the editors in 1961 that the address book was presented by Fannie to T.J. Wise in a London cab for his Ashley Library. The volume remains in the Ashley Library, now owned by and housed in the British Library. We gratefully acknowledge that institution for permission to publish the Brownings' second joint address book.

We also wish to thank Dr. Rhian Williams and Rita S. Patteson for their assistance in preparing the manuscript for publication.

In this presentation, names have been alphabetized, and an attempt has been made to order each person's accompanying addresses chronologically. We give EBB's entries in italics.

1. Bracketed with Mr. Adams.
2. Probably, Louisa Baring, Lady Ashburton, who married on 17 November 1858, as his second wife, Bingham Baring, 2nd Baron Ashburton, whose first wife, Harriet, died on 4 May 1857.
3. EBB also entered this name and address.
4. Sic, for Theodora von Müller.
5. Probably, Rev. George Clayton (1783–1862), minister of York Street Chapel, Walworth, and his second wife, Mary (née Giles).
6. EBB also entered this name and the second address.
7. Possibly, Wilbraham Egerton (1832–1909), eldest son of William Egerton (1806–83), 1st Baron Egerton (1859).
8. [Sic, for Gryzanowski.]
9. Read “West Brompton”; there was no “West Brompton Street.”
10. This line entered at the front of the address book.
11. Perhaps, Nicholas Longworth, patron of Hiram Powers.
12. RB entered this name as “O’Mahony.”
13. One of three unmarried daughters of Brownlow Bertie Mathew.
14. This is a mistake. Hyde Park Gate is on the other side of Hyde Park. In AB-3, “Gate” is not included in Miss Wills-Sandford’s address.
15. EBB has entered this name as “M<sup>dme</sup> Swabë.”
16. Probably, Hon. William Owen Stanley (1802–84).
17. This is incorrect. RB crossed through the Onslow Square address and wrote this one above it. However, Thackeray resided at 13 Young Street from 1846 to 1854, after which time he resided at 36 Onslow Square until 1862.
18. This address is presumably in the hand of the Abbé Venturini, who wrote his name next to it, correcting EBB’s mistake in the accent.

19. Possibly, Robert Walsh (1784–1859), American journalist and editor, living in Paris.

20. She was not a countess. Emily Elizabeth Julia de Grey (née Thellusson, 1817–79) was the wife of Thomas de Grey (1804–70), 5th Baron Walsingham.

21. Probably, Mary Reynell Wreford (1799–1886), eldest sister of Henry Wreford, The Times correspondent in Italy.

22. This and the three following hotels are listed at the front of the address book, accompanied by the year “1858” in RB’s hand. We present them and the other hotels in the order written.

23. EBB’s dressmakers are entered at the end of the address book; we present them in the order written.

24. EBB may have in mind a “canna,” a modern Roman unit of measurement equal to a little over two yards. The plural is “canne.”
